

RUNNING IN THE BURBS

SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

Policy overview and purpose

Social media is changing the way we communicate.

This policy has been developed to inform our community about using social media so people feel enabled to participate, while being mindful of their responsibilities and obligations. In particular, this policy provides practical guidance allowing all parties to benefit from the use of social media, while minimising potential risks and protecting those involved.

This policy assists to establish a culture of openness, trust and integrity in all online activities related to Running in the Burbs Inc.

This policy contains Running in the Burbs Inc. guidelines for the Running in the Burbs Inc. community to engage in social media use. It also includes details of breaches of the policy.

In circumstances where guidance about social media issues has not been given in this policy, we suggest you use common sense or seek out advice from those who have approved this policy.

Underlying principles

This policy complements Running in the Burbs Inc.'s core values:

1. To provide Association Members with professional and experienced run coaching within a training framework that will help them to achieve personal health and distance running event goals.
2. To assist Association Members to enjoy physical and psychological benefits of outdoor recreational running.
3. To provide a local community-based socialisation vehicle.

The Committee of Running in the Burbs Inc. are responsible for all matters related to this policy.

- Committee Members of Running in the Burbs Inc.
- Association Members of Running in the Burbs Inc.
- Affiliated Clubs and Associated Organisations of Running in the Burbs Inc.
- Social Media Members of Running in the Burbs Inc.

Scope

Social media refers to any online tools or functions that allow people to communicate and/or share content via the internet.

This social media policy applies to platforms including, but not limited to:

- Social networking sites (e.g. Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Google+, Pinterest, Yammer, etc)

- Video and photo sharing websites or apps (e.g. YouTube, Vimeo, Instagram, Flickr, Vine, etc)
- Podcasting (e.g. iTunes, Stitcher, Sound cloud, etc)
- Instant messaging (e.g. SMS, Skype, Snapchat, WhatsApp, Viber, etc)
- Public and private online forums and discussion boards
- Any other online technologies that allow individual users to upload and share content.

This policy is applicable when using social media as:

1. an officially designated individual representing Running in the Burbs Inc. on social media; and
2. if you are posting content on social media in relation to Running in the Burbs Inc. that might affect Running in the Burbs Inc.'s business, products, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

NOTE: This policy does not apply to the personal use of social media where it is not related to or there is no reference to Running in the Burbs Inc. or its members or reputation.

Using social media in an official capacity

You must be authorised by the Running in the Burbs Inc. Committee before engaging in social media as a representative of Running in the Burbs Inc.

As a part of Running in the Burbs Inc.'s, community you are an extension of the Running in the Burbs Inc. brand.

As such, the boundaries between when you are representing yourself and when you are representing Running in the Burbs Inc. can often be blurred. This becomes even more of an issue as you increase your profile or position within Running in the Burbs Inc.

Therefore, it is important that you represent both yourself and Running in the Burbs Inc. appropriately online at all times.

Guidelines

You must adhere to the following guidelines when using social media related to Running in the Burbs Inc. or services, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

Use common sense

Whenever you are unsure as to whether or not the content you wish to share is appropriate, seek advice from others before doing so or refrain from sharing the content to be on the safe side.

When using social media, the lines between public and private, personal and professional, may be blurred. Remember, you are an ambassador for Running in the Burbs Inc.

Protecting your privacy

Be smart about protecting yourself and your privacy.

When posting content online there is potential for that content to become publicly available through a variety of means, even if it was intended to be shared privately. Therefore, you should refrain from posting any content online that you would not be happy for anyone to see, even if you feel confident that a particular individual would never see it.

Where possible, privacy settings on social media platforms should be set to limit access. You should also be cautious about disclosing your personal details.

Honesty

Your honesty—or dishonesty—may be quickly noticed in the social media environment. Do not say anything that is dishonest, untrue or misleading. If you are unsure, check the source and the facts before uploading or posting anything. Running in the Burbs Inc.

recommends erring on the side of caution – if in doubt, do not post or upload.

Do not post anonymously, using pseudonyms or false screen names. Be transparent and honest. Use your real name, be clear about who you are and identify any affiliations you have.

If you have a vested interest in something you are discussing, point it out. If you make an endorsement or recommendation about something you are affiliated with, or have a close relationship with, you must disclose that affiliation.

The web is not anonymous. You should assume that all information posted online can be traced back to you. You are accountable for your actions both on and offline, including the information you post via your personal social media accounts.

Use of disclaimers

Wherever practical, include a prominent disclaimer stating who you work for or are affiliated with (e.g. member of Running in the Burbs Inc.) and that anything you publish is your personal opinion and that you are not speaking officially. This is good practice and is encouraged, but don't count on it to avoid trouble — it may not have legal effect.

Respect confidentiality and sensitivity

When using social media, you must maintain the privacy of Running in the Burbs Inc.'s confidential information. This includes information that is not publically accessible, widely known, or not expected to be shared outside of Running in the Burbs Inc.

Remember, if you are online, you are on the record—much of the content posted online is public and searchable.

Within the scope of your authorisation by Running in the Burbs Inc., it is perfectly acceptable to talk about Running in the Burbs Inc. and have a dialogue with the community, but it is not okay to publish confidential information of Running in the Burbs Inc. Confidential information includes things such as details about unreleased information, unpublished details, financial information or Minutes of Meetings.

When using social media, you should be considerate to others and should not post information when you have been asked not to, or where consent has not been sought and given. You must also remove information about another person if that person asks you to do so.

Permission should always be sought if the use or publication of information is not incidental, but directly related to an individual. This is particularly relevant to publishing any information regarding minors. In such circumstances, parental or guardian consent is mandatory.

Refrain from publishing photos of sensitive nature

You should refrain from posting any information or photos of a sensitive nature. This could include accidents, incidents or controversial behaviour.

Complying with applicable laws

Do not post or link to content that contains illegal or indecent content, including defamatory, vilifying or misleading and deceptive content.

Abiding by copyright laws

It is critical that you comply with the laws governing copyright in relation to material owned by others and Running in the Burbs Inc.'s own copyrights and brands.

You should never quote or use more than short excerpts of someone else's work, and you should always attribute such work to the original author/source. It is good practice to link to others' work rather than reproduce it.

Discrimination, sexual harassment and bullying

The public in general, and Running in the Burbs Inc.'s Committee Members and Association Members, reflect a diverse set of customs, values and points of view.

You must not post any material that is offensive, harassing, discriminatory, embarrassing, intimidating, sexually explicit, bullying, hateful, racist, sexist or otherwise inappropriate.

Avoiding controversial issues

Within the scope of your authorisation by Running in the Burbs Inc., if you see misrepresentations made about Running in the Burbs Inc. in the media, you may point that out to the relevant authority at Running in the Burbs Inc. Always do so with respect and with the facts. If you speak about others, make sure what you say is based on fact and does not discredit or belittle that party.

Dealing with mistakes

If Running in the Burbs Inc. makes an error while posting on social media, be up front about the mistake and address it quickly. If you choose to modify an earlier post, make it clear that you have done so. If someone accuses Running in the Burbs Inc. of posting something improper (such as their copyrighted material or a defamatory comment about them), address it promptly and appropriately and if necessary, seek legal advice.

Conscientious behaviour and awareness of the consequences

Keep in mind that what you write is your responsibility, and failure to abide by these guidelines could put your Membership at risk.

You should always follow the terms and conditions for any third-party sites in which you participate.
